

Datalayer is located in the center of Brussels, capital of Belgium (we are hosted in the CO.STATION post accelerator).

1. Reach Brussels Central Station area: The easiest is to pick one of the numerous train or to take a tube (train and tube both stop at Brussels Central Station). If you are by car, please ensure a parking or be ready to search for some available place along the streets (if you are lucky, it will take you 5 minutes - don't forget to pay for a ticket at the automated machines).

2. Once you are in the Brussels Central Station area, follow the map hereafter and find the CO.STATION post accelerator entrance where Datalayer offices are located. This entrance is a side entrance of the Marquis Building which sits near the Sint-Gudule cathedral (take care, the official address is new, so you may not find it on a map or on GPS).
